THE INTELLIGENCER.

WHEELING, JANUARY 21, 1809.

What is the Issue? What is the issue in the present municipal campaign?

The issue is not summed up in the opposition organ's daily tirade of abuse of the Republican candidates; the average citizen realizes this and pays no attention to such stuff and nonsense.

What the people want to know is. fitted by past records to capably and honestly administer the city government?

This question has but one answer unquestionably the record of the Republican party in the city hall is one of excellence throughout. Its record compels confidence in the Republican organization and its candidates, and the people will assuredly record their en-dorsement of the fine showing made during the past four years of Republican ouncils and officials.

The Republican candidates stand for a city government administered with ability and honesty and economy.

The Democratic candidates stand for nothing of that sort; they are compelled to struggle under the burden imposed upon them by past Democratic adminis trations that were chiefly remarkable for extravagance, lack of ability and worse. Overdrafts, unpaid bills, default on loans-these are features of Demo-cratic rule in the city of Wheeling, and the people are not in a humor to go back to such a disgraceful state of affairs. The issue is good government vs. bad government. The Republican record at the cits ball has been honest, economical and capnble

The Democratic record-well, that's an old story which good Democrats would like to blot out, but it remains and compels all citizens who have the good of their city at heart to vote against the Democracy's candidates on Thursday.

Impertment Assumption.

The shameless effrontery of the Market street Misinformer is exemplified in the ridiculous claims it sets forts on behalf of the Democratic city ticket. Certainly it cannot hope the people to believe the impertmently false state-ment that the ticket was "nominated by the combined efforts of independent citizens, regardless of parts, whose chief iden in putting it in the field was to purge the city of pernicious ring rule, are all men of the highest character, who, whatever their political opinions may be in state and nation al politics, have in view only honest, economical and efficient city government, free from political influence and partisan blas." Tis well to "assume a virtue if you reputation is against it, and as for character it has none. The idea that any "independent citizens, regardless of party," had anything to do with the nomination of the Democratic city tick-et is one of the finest things in the way of unconscious humor that the paper has ever perpetrated. The voter who would enter that fold in the hope of correcting any evil whatsoever would cerment. The villification and cowardly invendoes that have distinguished the Register's attacks on the present city government are pretty well understood by the thinking people of Wheeling. The course it has pursued has been one of criminal misrepresentation. Its mendacious editorials are daily insults to the intelligent class of its readers, and a reflection on the honesty of its clientele. In no way is it worthy of ere dence, and it is consoling to know that it can do no harm. It is a complete stranger to fairness and has never during its whole existence been on speaking terms with truth.

Good Roads Wanted. A Preston county correspondent in another column calls the attention of the legislature to several recommendations of Governor Atkinson to that body contained in his message., His main insistence is for better reads, and ably argues that in spite of the natural wealth of the state we can never hope to mitain the eminence and proseprity of sister commonwealths until we enjoy better facilities for inter-communal transit. This subject has been before every legislature, and as yet the problem has not found a satisfactory solution.

There is not a section in the state that is not handicapped by bad roads The governor in his message made the statement that thousands of dollars are yearly wasted upon our public highways, as no permanent improvements not got be omitted?" For the 332rd and have resulted from the expenditure. The tion of the state is for some system of permanent road building. The will never reach its highest development until this problem is solved and good roads checker our state in every direction. Our roads are arteries of commerce, and no pains or expense should be spared to secure the greatest public improvement along these lines."

It is a matter well worthy of the most distinguished consideration of the legislature. Good roads will enhance the value of farm lands and contribute in many ways to the wealth and prosperity of our prosperous state.

The Farmer's Prosperity.

Much has been said of the wonderful export trade of last year and the distinctive benefits enjoyed by the manufacturers, but it appears that the farmers of the country have been the largest beneficiaries. According to the statistical bureau of the treasure department more than $850,000,000 worth of the exports of 1898 were the products of the farm, breadstuffs, cotton, provisions, live animals, tobacco and fruits supplied the great bulk of the products which went abroad during the year, breadstuffs being the largest in value, cotton second, provisions third, animals fourth and tobacco fifth. In no earlier ear in our history has the exportation of products of agriculture been as large, the total for the year surpassing by more than one hundred million dollars that of the great export years, 1891 and Both in quantities and prices received the exportations of farm productions have been unusually large, and this relates to nearly every class of articles exported. Of breadstuffs alone the exports of the year were sixty-five million dollars greater than those of 1897, and were more than double in value those of 1895. Of provisions, the year's exports were nearly twenty-five million dollars in excess of those of last year, while cotton exports were con-but slightly below those of 1896. Besides these great classes, the smaller items of fruits and nuts, hay, hops, seeds, vegetables, oil cake and vegetable oils, eggs, feathers and many other articles of this class added to the receipts for agricultural articles exported, bringing the grand total up to more than eight hundred and fifty million dollars, against seven hundred and thirty mil-lion dollars in 1897, six hundred and sixty-five million dollars in 1896 and five hundred and forty-six million dollars

siderably in excess of those of 1897

All the articles of great agricultural exportation show a marked increase for the year, compared with preceding years. Corn for the first time passes the two hundred million bushel line in the calendar year's exportations. Out meal, in which the growth of our exportations has rapidly increased during the past few years, shows a total of eighty-five million pounds, an increase of more than twenty-five per cent, over last year. Wheat shows a round total of one hundred and fifty million bushels, against one hundred and ten million bushels last year, and eighty-five million bushels in the preceding year while the value exported in 1598 exceeds ne hundred and thirty million dollars, against less than one hundred million dollars in 1897 and less than sixty million dellars in 1896, thus more than double those of 1896.

Situation at Charleston.

The senate yesterday acted upon the the resolution presented last Friday with reference to Senator Kidd's title to his seat, suspending that gentleman pending the contest, and swearing in the contestant, Mr. Morris. The senate committee on privileges and elections reported that Senators Getzendanner and Pierson were entitled to their seats, but under the rules the matter went over until to-day.

In the house the scats of four Republican delegates were questioned, reciting that one is a deputy collector of internal revenue, another a postmaster; that Mr. Cutright is principal of the West Liberty normal school, and that Mr. Legge, of Marshall county, is at present a salaried official of the Balti-more & Ohio railroad. All of these cases were referred to the committee on privileges and elections. This action puts a decidedly grave aspect on the state of affairs. The house committee did not report on the Taylor county case, and Judging from the developments of the trip of the sub-committee to Grafion have it not," but the Democratic organ is past such a deceptive assumption; its difficult to see just how they can reconcile the testimony gathered there with the position the committee is disposed to take towards Mr. Brohard, the honestly elected delegate.

To-day the vote for senator will be taken separately in the senate and house of delegates. Whether any of the threatened changes in the complexion of the house will be effected before the vote is taken is a matter that cannot be predicted with any degree of certainty. The situation is much more strained than it ever was.

And Jove said unto Vulcan:
"See you tinynite. He is in a life and death struggle with a mob of his fellow mites. By myself, but he fights well; doubtless he is on some errand of human mercy—his child is sick or the wife of his bosom is night to death. Shall I not part the crowd and make a clear pathway for him in recognition of his 'mitey' efforts?"
Vulcan roared a deep, bass laugh in recognition of the great Jove's Joke, but he said:

"I think," said Jove, "that a miraculous intervention in his behalf would be more like to make his puff with pride; however as you will. Ah, see, he has of his own efforts renched the edge of the battling crowd. It was a noble fight I faith! Three times I thought him crushed. Those mortals have courage in plenty. The Mental Eye.

Prof. Jastrow, in the Popular Science Monthly: Thousands upon thousands of persons handle our silver dollar, but few happen to observe the lion's head which lies concealed in the representation of the familiar head of lib-erty, frequently even a careful exam-ination fails to detect this hidden em-blem of British rule; but, as before, when once found, it is quite obvious. For similar reasons it is a great aid in looking for an object to know what to look for; to be readily found, the ob-ject, though lost to sight, should be to memory clear. Searching is a mental process similar to the matching of a piece of fabric in texture or color, when one has forgotten the sample, and must rely upon the remembrance of its ap-pearance. If the recollection is clear and distinct, recognition takes place when the judgment decides that what the physical eye corresponds to the im-age of the mind's eye; with an indis-tinct mental image the recognition be-comes doubtful or faulty. For correct and accurate vision it is necessary to neguire an alert mental eye that ob-serves all that is objectively visible, but does not permit the subject to add to or modify what is really present. sentation of the familiar head of lib-

The Old Hymns

There's lots of music in 'em-the hymns of long ago, An' when some gray-haired brother sings the ones I used to know I sorter want to take a hand-I think o' days gone bydays gone by—
"On Jordan's stormy banks I stand and east a wishful eye!"

There's lots o' music in 'em-those dear, sweet hymns of oldwith visions bright of lands of light, and shirting streets of gold;
And I hear 'em ringing-sincing, where Mem'ry, dreaming, stands,
"From Greenland's lev mountains to India's coral strands."

They seem to sing forever of holier, sweeter days, When the lilles of the love of God bloomed white in all the ways; And I want to hear their music from the And I want to hear their music from the old-time meetin's rise Till "I can read my title clear to man-sions in the skies."

The words—the tunes of every one the dear old hymn book through!
We ddin! have no trumpets then—no organ built for show—
We only samy to praise the Lord "from whom all blessings flow."

An' so, I love the old hymns, and when my time shall come—Before the light has left me, and my singing lips are dumb,
If I can only hear 'em then, I'll pass without a slpi.

Light Beverages in England. All habitual "diners out" must have been struck with the change which has come over society in regard to the matter of beverages. Champagne is the popular drink, light hocks also, and both these are by many persons freely diluted with Apollinaris water. At the table d'hote of any first-class hotel it is remarkable how many of the male table d'hote of any first-class hotel it is remarkable how many of the male guests may be teen drinking whisky and apollinaris, while the ladies often drink Apollinaris only. At public diners the same change in the drinking habits of the guests is even more marked. There was a time, not so long ago, when at public banquets no such thing as water was to be seen on the table, but now one of the first things the intelligent and careful guest looks for when he sits down to dinner is a bottle of Apollinaris.—London Morning Advertiser, November 12, 1838.

Largest Family on Record.

London's Woman Life: In the Har-lelan manuscript, Nos. 78 and 980, in the library of the British Museum, mention is made of the most extraor-dinary family that has ever been known in the world's history. The parties were a Scotch weaver and his wife (not wives) who were the father and (not wives) who were the father and mother of sixty-two children.

The majority of the offspring of this pair were boys—exactly how many is not known—for the record mentions the fact that forty-six of the male children lived to reach manhood's estate, and only four of the daughters lived to be grown-up women. Thirty-nine of the sons were still living in the year 1650, the majority of them residing in and about Newcastle-on-Tyne.

It is recorded in one of the old histories of Newcastle that "a certyne gentleman of large estayies" rode thirty-and-three miles beyond the Tyne to prove this wonderful story. It is further related that Sir J. Bowers adopted ten of the sons and three other "landed gentlemen" took ten each. The remaining members of this extraordinary family were brought up by the parents.
